

MASTER OF ARTS SOCIOLOGY AND SPECIALIZATION FEMINIST AND GENDER STUDIES

The School of Sociological and Anthropological Studies offers the following programs: Master of Arts (MA) and PhD in sociology; Master of Arts (MA) in anthropology. In addition, the School participates in the following collaborative programs: Feminist and Gender Studies (master's level) and Canadian studies (doctoral level).

The MA in sociology is offered as a full-time and a part-time program, in French and in English. In English, the maximum number of annual admissions is fixed according to the procedure explained in the "Admission Requirements" section. In accordance with the University of Ottawa regulation, students may write their assignments, research papers, theses and examinations in either English or French.

Two options are available for the master's program: the MA with thesis and the MA with research paper, to which admissible students may add the co-op option. Students in both options are eligible for admission to the collaborative program in Feminist and Gender Studies. For more information, see the section "Apply for Admission (<http://www.grad.uottawa.ca/default.aspx?tabid=1624&Org=EBC>)."

The Collaborative program in Feminist and Gender Studies at the master's level is designed for students from selected disciplines in arts, education, health sciences, law, social sciences, and counselling and spirituality (Saint Paul University), who have an interest in Feminist and Gender Studies. These students have the opportunity to combine advanced studies in their primary program with analyses from a Feminist and Gender Studies perspective. The degree awarded is a master's degree in the primary program with a "specialization in Feminist and Gender Studies".

The PhD in sociology is offered as a full-time program only, in English and in French. However, both required seminars are offered in French exclusively. The doctoral program aims to train sociologists capable of conducting research on the social relations that define the conditions of existence and the transformations of contemporary societies, while using the most up-to-date theoretical and methodological tools. The program's two main fields of research are minorities and culture, and political sociology. Students in the doctoral program are eligible for admission to the collaborative program in Canadian studies. For more information, see the section "Apply for Admission (<http://www.grad.uottawa.ca/default.aspx?tabid=1624&Org=EBC>)."

Professors in the School of Sociological and Anthropological Studies conduct research in a number of areas. For a more complete understanding of the breadth of research being undertaken at the School, students are encouraged to consult the list of professors and their areas of interest, which extend well beyond the fields of research mentioned above.

The programs are governed by the academic regulations (<https://www.uottawa.ca/about-us/leadership-governance/policies-regulations/>) in effect for graduate studies.

Admission Requirements

For the most accurate and up to date information on application deadlines, language tests and other admission requirements, please visit the specific requirements (<https://www.uottawa.ca/graduate-studies/programs-admission/apply/specific-requirements/>) webpage.

Students who have a BA with honours or major in sociology or in another equivalent discipline, with a minimum average of 70% (B) calculated in accordance with graduate studies guidelines, may be admitted to the MA program.

Students who have an honours BA with a minimum average of 70% (B) in another discipline, calculated in accordance with graduate studies guidelines, but are considered to have an insufficient academic background may be accepted into a qualifying program, requiring them to complete a maximum of eight courses.

All applicants must be able to understand, speak, and write either English or French proficiently. Applicants whose first language is neither English nor French must provide proof of proficiency in one or the other. The list of acceptable tests is indicated in the "Admission" section of the general regulations in effect for graduate studies.

The maximum number of students admitted annually in the MA in sociology in English is limited to the average of admissions to the French version in the previous three years. The maximum number of admissions for the current year is available from the secretariat of the School of Anthropological and Sociological Studies.

Collaborative Program in Feminist and Gender Studies

This program was created to enable students to enrich their education in sociology by adding the interdisciplinary dimension of Feminist and Gender Studies. The Feminist and Gender Studies program consists of two compulsory Feminist and Gender Studies (FEM) courses as well as a thesis or research paper on a subject related to Feminist and Gender Studies. FEM courses are recognized by the master's program in sociology. Students enrolled in the collaborative program therefore do not have to take any additional courses.

Students should indicate in their initial application for admission to the master's program in sociology that they wish to be accepted into the collaborative program.

Program Requirements

Requirements for this program have been modified. Please consult the 2025-2026 calendars (<https://catalogue.uottawa.ca/en/archives/>) for the previous requirements.

A comprehensive portrait of the research undertaken in the School of Sociological and Anthropological Studies can be obtained by consulting the list of professors and their research interests.

In accordance with the University of Ottawa regulation, students can write their assignments, research papers, theses and examinations in either English or French.

MA with Thesis

Compulsory Courses in Feminist and Gender Studies (FEM):

FEM 5103	Feminist Methodologies ¹	3 Units
----------	-------------------------------------	---------

FEM 5300	Feminist Theories ¹	3 Units
----------	--------------------------------	---------

Compulsory Courses in Sociology (SOC):

SOC 8111	Advanced Seminar of Sociological Research	3 Units
----------	---	---------

6 elective course units in sociology (SOC) at the graduate level ²	6 Units
---	---------

Thesis Proposal:

SOC 7990	Thesis Proposal
----------	-----------------	--

Thesis:

THM 7999	Master's Thesis ³
----------	------------------------------	--

Note(s):

¹ Students must complete the two compulsory courses in Feminist and Gender Studies (FEM) prior to enrolling for the thesis.

² One graduate course or equivalent (3 units) from another program may count as part of the coursework for a master's with thesis, subject to the approval of the supervisor of graduate studies in sociology, and after consultation with the department responsible for the course.

³ A thesis on a topic related to women, gender, feminism or sexualities. The proposed topic must be approved by the Feminist and Gender Studies graduate committee as well as by the sociology program. The thesis or major research paper must demonstrate knowledge of feminist scholarship in the field or fields appropriate to the topic, and of feminist methodologies where applicable

Students should begin the process of selecting a thesis topic and a supervisor immediately upon commencing the program. The supervisor must be a member of the School of Sociological and Anthropological Studies. The topic and supervisor must be enrolled no later than the end of the second term in the program.

Enrollment for the thesis proposal (SOC 7990) takes place preferably in the second term, but at the latest in the third. Each student is assigned to a thesis advisory committee, composed of three professors, including the thesis supervisor. The committee members are proposed by the thesis supervisor, in consultation with the student, and appointed by the Graduate Studies Committee of the School.

The thesis proposal is prepared under the guidance of the thesis supervisor and must be approved by the Thesis Advisory Committee. Once the project has been approved, the preparation and writing of the thesis begins. For additional information, consult section G of the academic regulations (<http://www.grad.uottawa.ca/Default.aspx?tabid=1807>) in effect for graduate studies.

The aim of the proposal is to develop:

- the capacity to formulate a clear research protocol;
- familiarity with the scholarly literature related to the project;
- the ability to circumscribe the limits and scope of the project, both conceptually and methodologically;
- the ability to carry out the remaining steps leading from the proposal to the completion of the master's thesis.

Master's Thesis

For information regarding the thesis, consult the web site of the sociology program (<http://socialsciences.uottawa.ca/soc-ant/guidelines-preparation-proposal-ma-sociology/>).

Compulsory Courses in Sociology (SOC):

SOC 6101	Research Design in Sociology	3 Units
----------	------------------------------	---------

12 elective course units in sociology (SOC) at the graduate level ²	12 Units
--	----------

Research Paper:

MRP 6999	Major Research Paper

Note(s)

¹ Students must complete the two compulsory courses in Feminist and Gender Studies (FEM) prior to enrolling for the research paper.

² Up to two graduate courses (6 units) from another program may count as coursework for the master's program with research paper, subject to the approval of the supervisor of graduate studies in sociology and after consultation with the department responsible for the course(s) concerned.

³ A major research paper on a topic related to women, gender, feminism or sexualities. The proposed topic must be approved by the Feminist and Gender Studies Graduate Committee as well as by the sociology program. The thesis or major research paper must demonstrate knowledge of feminist scholarship in the field or fields appropriate to the topic, and of feminist methodologies where applicable

Research Paper

For information regarding the research paper, consult the website of the sociology program (<http://socialsciences.uottawa.ca/soc-ant/guidelines-preparation-proposal-ma-sociology/>).

Co-op Option

The MA in Sociology, with the assistance of the University of Ottawa's co-op office, offers a co-op stream to a limited number of students who will request this option in their admission file. The co-op option gives selected students the opportunity to acquire practical work experience by completing two paid one-term, work placements.

The option for the co-op stream is as follows. The first co-op placement will be in the summer of the first year, and the second work placement will take place in the fall of the second year. Students who enroll in the co-op option will obtain twelve units (six units per work placement) for their work experience. Each work term is graded P/F (Pass or Fail), based on the employer's report and on a written report completed by the student. The student's report must be 15 to 20 pages, including appendices. A regular professor from the School will evaluate the student reports.

The units awarded for co-op work terms may not be used to obtain equivalences for other courses. In other words, the co-op units are additional to the minimum requirements of the degree.

To remain enrolled in the co-op program, a student must:

- maintain full-time status;
- maintain a 7.0 grade point average; and
- obtain a passing grade for each co-op work term

Duration of the Program

Students in the thesis option are expected to complete all requirements within two years of full-time study. Those in the research paper option are expected to complete within four terms (16 months) of full-time study. The maximum time permitted, whether full- or part-time, is four years from the date of initial enrollment in the program.

Research

Research at the University of Ottawa

Located in the heart of Canada's capital, a few steps away from Parliament Hill, the University of Ottawa ranks among Canada's top 10 research universities. Our research is founded on excellence, relevance and impact and is conducted in a spirit of equity, diversity and inclusion.

Our research community thrives in four strategic areas:

- Creating a sustainable environment
- Advancing just societies
- Shaping the digital world
- Enabling lifelong health and wellness

From advancing healthcare solutions to tackling global challenges like climate change, the University of Ottawa's researchers are at the forefront of innovation, making significant contributions to society and beyond.

Research at the Faculty of Social Sciences

The Faculty of Social Sciences represents a place of excellence in knowledge creation, research and training. Driven by both disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives, research at the Faculty is rich, innovative and varied, contributing to the depth of understanding and breadth of discussions on a variety of issues nationally and internationally. This research, whether it be fundamental, theoretical, applied or action-oriented, is generated by our renowned expertise, ultimately culminating in applications designed to influence individual communities and the betterment of society.

We have identified five research themes which collectively represent a large proportion of the research undertaken at the Faculty of Social Sciences:

- International Studies
- Francophonie
- Public Policy
- Health, Well-Being
- Justice, Society

Identification, évaluation et analyse des données qualitatives et quantitatives publiées sous une forme ou l'autre. Synthétiser et présenter les principales conclusions empiriques et sociologiques qu'on peut tirer de leur analyse. Maîtrise d'un tableur et des outils de Statistiques Canada pour l'analyse des tableaux statistiques.

Volet : Séminaire

SOC 7516 Élaboration d'un devis de recherche, identification et synthèse des données pertinentes (3 crédits)

Préparation d'un devis de recherche à partir de rencontres avec un.e client.e; négociation d'un contrat de recherche (livrables, échéancier). Synthèse d'une littérature et des données. Animation de réunions. Rédaction de comptes rendus de réunion et de notes de breffage.

Volet : Séminaire

SOC 7517 Mobilisation et transfert des connaissances pour l'action sociale (3 crédits)

Développer des orientations/recommandations fondées sur les données pertinentes pour orienter l'action sociale et guider la formulation de politiques publiques et leur évaluation. Rédaction d'un document de synthèse conforme aux exigences d'un devis, et présenter les grandes lignes en public. Rédaction de résumés analytiques (executive summary) et des plans d'action.

Volet : Séminaire

SOC 7540 Méthodologie quantitative avancée (3 crédits)

Apprentissage des méthodes avancées d'analyse quantitative des données, notamment, les analyses multivariées. L'emploi de ces méthodes dans la littérature sociologique. Applications et projet de recherche; établissement d'une problématique et d'un cadre théorique, choix d'une approche quantitative, éthique de la recherche, construction d'outils de collecte de données.

Volet : Séminaire

SOC 7541 Méthodologie qualitative avancée (3 crédits)

Modélisation d'un projet de recherche et terrain d'enquête selon la méthodologie qualitative : établissement d'une problématique et d'un cadre théorique, choix d'une approche qualitative, éthique de la recherche, construction d'outils de collecte de données, collecte, systématisation des données à l'aide de logiciels, analyses verticales et horizontales, rédaction d'un rapport final.

Volet : Séminaire

SOC 7551 Inégalités sociales (3 crédits)

Études des approches classiques et contemporaines à la différenciation sociale, à la constitution des groupes et aux diverses relations de pouvoir qui les traversent à partir d'études de cas qui portent, entre autres, sur l'autochtonie, l'immigration, le nationalisme, les relations interethniques, le genre, la racialisation, la sexualité. Analyse critique des usages concurrents de la notion de diversité.

Volet : Cours magistral

SOC 7556 Sociologie du genre et des sexualités (3 crédits)

Approches sociologiques de l'étude du genre, y compris les théories intersectionnelles de la race, de la classe sociale et du genre ; stratification par sexe; le genre comme construction sociale ; spectre de genre; sexualités; corps.

Volet : Cours magistral

SOC 7560 Sociétés en développement – Approche critique des paradigmes dominants (3 crédits)

Examen du paradigme du développement en tant que fait social. Le concept de développement sera appréhendé comme un ensemble de pratiques et de savoirs construits par une diversité d'acteurs et portant sur des contextes socio-culturels diversifiés dépassant la vision binaire « Nord-Sud ». Analyse du changement social telle qu'opérée selon une perspective développementaliste en questionnant les modèles dominants inscrits dans les grands programmes internationaux : paradigme démographique, développement durable, vision restrictive de la culture et des cadres normatifs Les défis méthodologiques et éthiques inhérents aux travaux scientifiques menés dans ce domaine seront examinés sous l'angle de la justice épistémique et de la décolonisation des méthodologies.

Volet : Séminaire
