

MICROPROGRAM PROGRAM EVALUATION IN PROFESSIONAL CONTEXTS

Overview

With approximately 1,600 students and 150 fulltime and part-time professors, the Faculty of Education at the University of Ottawa stands out as an enriching environment in which professors, students and community partners contribute to our innovative graduate programs. Regardless of whether you are looking to become an expert educator, a school/board administrator, a research leader or a program evaluator, our professors will give you the means to have a positive impact on the community and graduate qualifications to advance and enrich your careers. To acquire the tools for your professional success, among its unique programs, the faculty offers you:

- Microprogram in Program Evaluation in Professional Contexts
- The Master of Education (M.Ed.) with course-based option;
- The Master of Education (M.Ed.) with research paper option;
- The Master of Education (M.Ed.) fully online;
- The Master of Arts in Education (M.A.);
- The Doctor of Philosophy in Education (Ph.D.).

The faculty's location in the heart of Ottawa offers you an exceptional range of programs in both official languages, which enables you to fully enjoy all the benefits of Canada's capital. The programs are offered in English and French and are governed by the academic regulations (<https://www2.uottawa.ca/study/graduate-studies/>) in effect for graduate studies.

Microprogram in Program Evaluation in Professional Contexts

The University of Ottawa Graduate Microprogram in Program Evaluation is offered in French and in English. It targets individuals who are or will be working in program evaluation who are interested in developing their competencies as program evaluators. It aims to develop individuals' abilities to conduct program evaluations as well as interpret and use program evaluation findings.

Admission Requirements

For the most accurate and up to date information on application deadlines, language tests and other admission requirements, please visit the specific requirements (<https://www.uottawa.ca/graduate-studies/programs-admission/apply/specific-requirements/>) webpage.

Candidates are required to have:

- an Honours Bachelor's degree in Education, Social Sciences, Health Sciences or Psychology (or equivalent);
- a minimum of 70% (B) average calculated in accordance with the graduate studies guidelines;
- proficiency in either English or French;

On completion of the micro-program, qualified students meeting admission requirements can apply to one of the related graduate programs, in particular the MA, the MEd, or PhD in Education and, upon admission, complete the requirements for those programs with units granted for relevant courses already completed in the micro-program. The number of units remaining would be assessed individually, at the time of admission, with relation to the student's chosen graduate program.

Students who are currently enrolled in a Masters (MEd or MA) or PhD in Education can concurrently complete this micro-program (as part of their existing program). These students must complete all of the credits in the microprogram. They can then count these credits from towards their existing Masters or PhD in Education.

Program Requirements

To meet the requirements of the microprogram, the following courses must be successfully completed:

Compulsory Courses:

EDU 5299	Program Evaluation: Methods and Practice	3 Units
EDU 6299	Program Evaluation: Theory and Contemporary Issues	3 Units
3 course units from: <sup>1</sup>		3 Units
EDU 5190	Introduction to Research in Education
EDU 6290	Research Methodologies
EDU 7397	Development and Evaluation of Data Collection Instruments

<sup>1</sup> The required methods course depends on the students' program of registration:

- EDU 5190: Master of Education (M.Ed.) or Microprogram only.
- EDU 6290: Master of Arts in Education
- EDU 7397: Doctor of Philosophy in Education